

APPLICATION FOR REGISTRATION

~ Labour Mobility Applicants ~

Any veterinarian wishing to practice veterinary medicine in British Columbia must first be granted registration by the College of Veterinarians of British Columbia.

The process of registration with the CVBC is governed by the Veterinarians Act and the CVBC Bylaws (Part 2 – Registration). Applicants are responsible for reviewing the information in the “Registration Application Guide” on the CVBC’s website to understand the registration and labour mobility eligibility requirements before completing and filing this form. (www.cvbc.ca, on the “For Veterinarians” menu).

This version of the application form is only for veterinarians who are currently registered and licensed to practice in another Canadian jurisdiction and are seeking equivalent registration in BC. Such applications will be considered with reference to the labour mobility requirements established in the Canada Free Trade Agreement.

Instructions:

- Read the questions carefully and complete this application form fully and precisely. Omissions or inaccuracies in your application may require resubmissions. If the space provided to respond to any question is insufficient, please attach additional pages as needed.
- The application form must be completed by the applicant, then declared before and witnessed by a notary public or commissioner of oaths.
- “Official Copies”: All supporting documents must be provided to the CVBC either: as originals; as copies that are ‘certified true’ by a notary public in Canada; or sent directly to the CVBC by the issuing body
- Certified copies of diplomas/transcripts are valid for up to 1 year, but all other components of an application (the notarized application form, copies of all other supporting documents, and letters of standing from other jurisdictions) must not pre-date the CVBC’s receipt of your application package by more than one month.
- Any documents that are not in English must be accompanied by a certified English translation
- The completed and notarized application form plus official copies of all supporting documents can be scanned and submitted electronically to the CVBC office by email at registration@cvbc.ca, or they may be couriered/posted to the CVBC office to the attention of the Registration Department.

College of Veterinarians of British Columbia
#210 – 10991 Shellbridge Way
Richmond, BC V6X 3C6

- Once your application has been received, you will receive a link to your invoice for the CVBC’s Application for Registration Fee plus the Bylaw Exam Fee (if applicable). You may pay the fee online by credit card or you may submit a cheque or money order to the CVBC office made payable to “College of Veterinarians of British Columbia” (include reference to the Invoice number/applicant name). Payment must be in Canadian funds.

The CVBC will only consider an application ‘active’ when the office has received both the signed & witnessed application form and payment of the application fee. Once an application is initiated, the application fee is non-refundable. Applications are considered valid for one year from date of submission. After one year, if progress is not being made on the applicant’s part to complete the application, the application will be considered abandoned and the file will be closed; any future effort to become registered will require a completely new application (forms, documents, fees).

Each application is reviewed on a case-by-case basis and the Registrar retains the right to request additional information, re-submissions and/or updates of any outdated materials/information. If an applicant is asked to resubmit any part of an active application, the application fee will not be charged again.

The exemption is intended to accommodate veterinarians that have home-based mobile practices or who shouldn't be directly accessible to the general public (eg. veterinarians employed in non-clinical environments).
